InfraVia sells its participation in Tramlink Nottingham, a world class tram network for the city of Nottingham, to Aberdeen Standard Investments.

Tramlink Nottingham owns and operates the tramway network of the city of Nottingham, UK. In 2011, Tramlink Nottingham took over the existing network which was in operations since 2004 and engaged in a 16.9km extension under a long term DBFM contract.

The extended tramway system, fully operational since 2015, now serves all densely populated areas of the city and major destinations such as the University of Nottingham and major mobility hubs.

For this transaction, InfraVia has been advised by Rubicon Capital Advisors (M&A) and by Clifford Chance (legal).
